The Fisherman and the Whale

This week saw the end of our work of Jessica Lanan's 'The Fisherman and the Whale'. A story about a fisherman and his son who are fishing and find a whale entangled in a krill line. Every child across the school has had the opportunity to read the book and work on both a piece of art and writing. Birch have created whale prints using their hands, Oak wrote diary extracts and explored watercolours. Beech drew the eye of the whale and wrote newspaper articles and Maple designed geometric stencils and wrote stories in the perspective of one of the characters. It has been lovely to see the work going up around the school and listening to the children talking about their thoughts on the book.

We are continuing to keep up with the recommended guidance from the Government in line with COVID-19; as and when this changes, we will let you know. As we move into the autumn and winter months, undoubtedly, there will be times when your children are poorly. Please follow the advice on the NHS website with regards to COVID. Should you take your child for a test, please let the school know as a matter of urgency, so that we can take necessary action.

The PTA have sorted, washed and organised all of the second hand uniform that they have had donated. In addition to this, they have catalogued every item and have uploaded this to the school

We will be holding Jeans for Genes Day on Friday 18th September 2020. Children can wear their own clothes along with a pair of jeans to school on this day; in exchange for a £1 donation.
